

KEY LOCATIONS

1. A small cave, perfect for a small sheltered campsite. A large boulder obscures tight cracks that lead deeper into a larger cavern system.
2. A large open chamber with a massive stalactite surrounded by fungi, small and large, and a deep pit, the bottom of which cannot be seen. Two boulders, heavy but movable, block a tunnel to the west, while a ridge taller than two men obscures an open space in the north.
3. Several variously sized stalactites thrust upward here from uneven ground covered by scree and detritus. A body is hastily buried here among the rocks.
4. This cavern is enveloped in strong webbing with several cocoons attached to the walls and ground throughout. Every turn spent searching here roll a d6. On a 1, a small cluster of giant spiders attack, while on a 6 a small amount of treasure is found in a cocoon.
5. An oddly out of place door blocks the way here, shut with a decent lock. Inside a stone ring for a fire is surrounded by signs of someone living here. A slept in bedroll, stool by the fire, a small simply locked chest with minor treasure, some supplies in crate and barrel, and a worn topped bench covered in the supplies of an alchemist.
6. Another large open chamber with strange vegetation growing along the banks of a rust red pool of unknown depth at the bottom of which is a large pile of treasure, though none of iron. Crumbling stonework in the western area indicate ancient construction, and within a stair leads down into the darkness.

HAPPENINGS IN THE CAVERNS ~ roll a 2d6 each turn of exploration

2. A dangerous ooze drops from the ceiling.
3. Skittering about here is a pair of giant spiders hunting for food.
4. Echoing through the caverns a piercing bestial screech unnerves.
5. Swarming bats, mad with disease and rot, fill the area.
6. Rust red and hulking, a beast that dissolves iron with a touch lumbers here.
7. A mass of...something drops from the ceiling, wet and viscous.
8. Mushroomen are on the warpath, attacking all not fungal.
9. Lashing out with whipping tendrils, a stalactite that isn't towers above.
10. Rotting plant matter and fungal miasma are an almost tactile scent here.
11. A small troop of goblin's returning to their camp deeper in the ruin.
12. The Alchemist of the cavern is gathering specimens here.

All content and art by Logen Nein

THE FUNGAL CAVERNS

A system neutral one-page dungeon